June 24 & 25, 2014

Have you thought about nursing as a career? Maybe you’ve thought about it, but you’re just not sure if you have what it takes? Did you know that nurses are in high demand around the country? And that nurses can go into specialty areas just like physicians? Indiana University East School of Nursing is offering you an opportunity to get the answers to these questions and more!

Indiana University East School of Nursing is offering a 2 day Summer Sample of Nursing Skills and Simulation Camp for high school students residing in our service areas with an interest in a career in Nursing. Students interested in applying should have an interest in nursing and be entering their Junior or Senior year in the fall 2014 school year.

Camp will start at 9:00am and run until approximately 4:00pm on June 24th & 25th, 2014. The first twenty students to complete and submit the application will be accepted into camp. Students who apply must agree to participate for both full days. There is no cost to attend the camp for the selected participants.

The Summer Sample of Nursing Skills and Simulation Camp is designed to provide a firsthand look at selected skills and daily activities of professional nurses. Students will be provided a variety of opportunities to learn and practice hands on skills with each other and on a human patient simulator. Simulation scenarios will be utilized to allow participants to experience the educational process required for nurses in a rapidly changing health care profession.

During the 2 day camp the participants will:
- Receive training in confidentiality, sterile technique, vital signs, health assessment and infection control
- Practice hands-on nursing skills with a human patient simulator
- Participate in simulation scenarios using their newly learned skills
- Learn effective and therapeutic communication skills pertinent to the nursing profession
- Identify the importance of inter-professional and multi-organizational collaboration

Participants will receive:
