Section I.c Enrollment

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled.

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Additional guidance on reporting race and ethnicity data.

Section I.f Program Completers

Provide the total number of teacher preparation program completers in each of the following academic years:

2014-15: 25

2013-14: 27

2012-13: 55

Section II Annual Goals - Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route to state credential program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students. (§205(a)(1)(A)(ii), §206(a))

Information about teacher shortage areas can be found at <http://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ope/pol/tsa.html>.

Please provide the information below about your program's goals to increase the number of prospective teachers in mathematics in each of three academic years.

Academic year 2014-15

Did your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2014-15?

Yes

How many prospective teachers did your program plan to add in mathematics in 2014-15?

1

Did your program meet the goal for prospective teachers set in mathematics in 2014-15?

Yes

Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

The Dean of the School of Education met with the Dean of the School of Natural Sciences and Mathematics to discuss recruiting opportunities for future math teachers. The Dean of the School of Education then visited math classes to recruit potential math teachers.

Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

Academic year 2015-16

Is your program preparing teachers in mathematics in 2015-16?

Yes

How many prospective teachers did your program plan to add in mathematics in 2015-16?

1

Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

The Dean of the School of Education will continue to meet with the Dean of the School of Natural Sciences and Mathematics to discuss recruiting opportunities for future math teachers. The Dean of the School of Education then visit math classes to recruit potential math teachers.

Academic year 2016-17

Will your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2016-17?

Yes

How many prospective teachers does your program plan to add in mathematics in 2016-17?

1

Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

Section II Assurances

Please certify that your institution is in compliance with the following assurances. (§205(a)(1)(A)(iii), §206(b)) Note: Be prepared to provide documentation and evidence for your responses, when requested, to support the following assurances.

Preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

Yes

Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

Yes

Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

No

Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

Yes

Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

Yes

Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

Yes

Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

Yes

Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

Students have breadth and depth of field experiences. They complete a field experiences in urban, suburban and rural school, whenever possible. Socio-economic, racial, ethnic, and special education population is also taken into consideration in field placements. At the pre student teaching level, cooperating teachers and education students assess each field experience. At the student teaching level, a university supervisor is added to the assessment group. Data is collected and analyzed for programmatic improvement on an annual basis.

Section IV Low-Performing

Provide the following information about the approval or accreditation of your teacher preparation program.

Is your teacher preparation program currently approved or accredited?

Yes

If yes, please specify the organization(s) that approved or accredited your program:

State
NCATE

Is your teacher preparation program currently under a designation as "low-performing" by the state (as per section 207(a) of the HEA of 2008)?

No

Section V Use of Technology

Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request.

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction
Yes
- use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning
Yes
- use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning
Yes
- use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning
Yes

Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

One of our foundational courses, W200 (Using Computers in Education) is required. Students learn about and use blogs, wikis, web quests, power points, and how to assess quality online materials. Additionally, students are taught how to integrate educational "apps" into their teaching and assessment. Students use these tools throughout methods courses and must provide evidence of effective technology use in the K-12 classroom in their graduation portfolio.

Students are taught to create valid, reliable assessments. They are taught how to collect data and analyze it to improve academic achievement. This content is integrated into secondary methods courses.

During the student teaching semester, students are required to complete an Analysis of Student Learning, which requires compilation of pre- and post- test data in both overall and disaggregated groups, generally using a spreadsheet program. The results are then presented graphically and analyzed for potential implications in the future.

Universal Design for Learning is introduced in the first special education course and carried through until graduation at both the elementary and secondary levels. Mild Intervention special education standards are integrated within the traditional elementary classes so pre-service teachers are well-prepared to work with inclusion.

The School of Education has a data base that provides performance data on all clinical and student teaching experiences. This data is used to analyze and recommend changes in the SOE's programs.

Section VI Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request.

Does your program prepare general education teachers to:

- teach students with disabilities effectively
Yes
- participate as a member of individualized education program teams
Yes
- teach students who are limited English proficient effectively
Yes

Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares general education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

As a result of state level changes, the dual licensure program for elementary education students is now completed in the form of a mild intervention minor with an option for certification. However, all students are required to take a Special Education foundations class, which places strong emphasis on laws and procedures. Special education standards continue to be integrated within K-6 elementary methods courses.

At the secondary level, all students take a Special Education Foundations course and special education issues are integrated within other foundations and methods classes.

Students implement IEPs and participate in IEP meetings as the opportunity arises during the pre-student teaching and student teaching field experiences.

Teaching students with limited English proficiency is integrated throughout the reading and language arts courses in the elementary program. This is an essential component of the secondary methods course Reading in the Content Area.

Section VII Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card. The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

The education programs at IU East are heavily field-based. Elementary students have a minimum of five field experiences, in a variety of settings, prior to 12 weeks of full-time student teaching. Students who are in the Secondary Internship program spend a year in a high or middle school classroom, culminating in student teaching that spring. The Internship Year also provides for a month-long experience in another school and at a different grade level. The School of Education has a structure in place for assessing students' knowledge, skills, and dispositions. Our Unit Assessment System includes benchmarks, 2 portfolios, and a spreadsheet documenting how and in what classes standards are taught, practiced, and mastered. We collect standard-based data, which is stored in an electronic database. Data is analyzed, as with student feedback. We value the information our school partners provide us and make programmatic changes based on their input and formed into an annual report which drives our program improvements. We value our school partnerships and solicit feedback from all cooperating teachers.
